EDUCATION & STUDENTS

The engaged enthusiast who makes sure the participants have a great experience

Do you enjoy developing events and educational programs? Do you have a feeling for how to create the right mix of learning, practicing, and having fun? Do you think you can convince consultancies as well as experts on sustainability to train the SBB participants? And can you place yourself in the student's shoes and make sure they have the right information at the right time from the moment they apply until after the battle? Then you are at the right role! As education and students manager you will make sure that the students get the necessary skills and knowledge on sustainability as well as on how to crack a business case.
